DPT Laboratories Names Tom Mitchell, Senior Manager, Marketing

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS – DPT Laboratories, Ltd., a pharmaceutical contract development and manufacturing organization, announced today that Tom Mitchell has been promoted to senior manager, marketing.

In his new role, Mitchell will oversee all marketing programs for the company. He joined DPT in January 2005 as marketing manager. Prior to that, Mitchell worked at Virbac Animal Health where he held roles in sales and marketing with increasing responsibilities from 1997 through 2004. Mitchell holds a bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Tennessee.

“We’ve done an impressive job building awareness of DPT and our unique ability to provide our customers a central resource for comprehensive development and manufacturing services.” Mitchell said. “This is an exciting time for DPT and I look forward to leading our marketing team as we continue to expand our capabilities and services.”

“Tom has played a vital role in promoting DPT within the pharmaceutical industry,” said Paul Josephs, vice president of sales and marketing. “His strategic vision and innovative marketing programs have been a major influence on our success.”
